Telling the Vibrancy of P4P: A Recap of the Mini AGM in Delta State

The year started for us at P4P with a Mini AGM held at the Orchid Hotel in Asaba, Delta State, on January 22nd and 23rd, 2024. This collaborative gathering brought together our state coordinators, state secretaries, and State CWC representatives, laying the groundwork for a year filled with impactful initiatives and transformative projects.

The meeting kicked off with a warm welcome and a brief from our esteemed National Coordinator, High Chief Akomolafe Pius, and PIND Network Coordinator, Chief Africas Lawal. The focal point of Day 1 was the departmental presentations, featuring insights from our Admin Officer, M&E Officer, Finance Officer, and Communication Officer. Each presentation delved into the expectations for 2024, setting the stage for a year of impactful initiatives.

To foster interactive discussions, the meeting was divided into three groups for a thorough review of intervention proposals from the nine states. This cooperative approach allowed us to harness the collective intelligence of our diverse network, ensuring that each proposal received valuable insights and suggestions.

Day two saw state coordinators taking the stage to present their 2024 intervention proposals for state and prevent-team interventions. This session provided a window into the innovative projects each state envisions, showcasing the dynamic nature of our network.

Crafting the Blueprint for 2024

A brief review of our charter set the stage for drafting resolutions and developing an action plan for the entire network in 2024. This collaborative effort was a demonstration of our commitment to continuous improvement, setting ambitious yet achievable goals for the new year.

As we reflect on these highlights, we will channel the energy and insights gained during the Mini AGM into driving positive change across the Niger Delta. The success of our network lies in each member's active participation, and we look forward to an engaging and transformative year ahead.

Thank you for being an integral part of P4P. Together, we shape the future.
